

What Can I Do About...

Junk Vehicles, Garbage in Yards, Overgrown Grass, Vacant Houses, Nuisances?

By Maurece Vulcano, Spokane C.O.P.S.

You know that property in your block that seems to spawn junk vehicles?

How about that place across the street that you cannot even see because of the 6 foot weeds surrounding the yard, but you can smell the garbage that resides somewhere in that jungle?

Oh, and then there are those partying fools that engage in mysterious activities until the wee hours of the morning.

Does any of this sound familiar? Do these situations bother you, or do they make you completely furious beyond belief? So, what are you doing about it?

Do not turn your head to these negative issues. If ignored, all the nasty stuff will multiply. It's kind of like bacteria. If gone untreated, the bacteria spreads and turns into an epidemic!

There is help available for you call CODE ENFORCEMENT. Some common violations that Code Enforcement deals with are:

- Junk Vehicles
- Refuse
- Fire Hazards from Vegetation and Debris
- Land Use Violations
- Vacant and Dangerous Buildings

Take responsibility to educate yourself and your neighbors on maintaining the quality-of-life you all expect.

Spokane C.O.P.S. has an extensive network of preventive resources available to help you deal with Code Enforcement other crime-prevention issues before they get out-of-control. Call or visit your local C.O.P.S. Substation for Code Enforcement complaint forms and for further information.

You may also access Spokane C.O.P.S. website at www.spokanecops.org for hundreds of resources and educational pieces to help protect you and your family.